

Fire Safety Training and Consultancy

The Regulatory Reform Order (Fire) 2005 places a legal requirement on Owners, Landlords and Employers to complete a Fire Risk Assessment and produce an Emergency Fire Plan for all premises for which they are responsible.

Prosecutions for failure to comply are now being reported in fire and safety journals. Line Business Services can help your organisation comply with these Fire Safety Regulations either by training your staff in the Fire Risk Assessment process or providing experienced Fire Risk Assessors to undertake the task on your behalf.

We can also provide the following Fire Safety Services:

- ❗ Assistance in compliance with legal requirements imposed by all current fire safety legislation
- ❗ Training of “responsible persons” – enabling them to undertake corrective actions as identified from FRA's and manage the day to day fire related issues
- ❗ Training of staff, fire wardens, fire teams and occupational fire brigades
- ❗ Liaison with insurance companies in terms of fire protection and risk management
- ❗ A total fire safety management service for your organisation
- ❗ The development of company emergency fire and recovery plans
- ❗ Fire risk audits of existing fire risk assessments
- ❗ Fire investigation
- ❗ Advice on the purchase and commissioning of fire protection systems

Line are well placed to give you clear and precise advice to assist you in complying with the increasing demands being made by legislation, fire brigades and local government to provide high levels of fire safety.

Our fire safety consultants all hold Membership of the Institution of Fire Engineers in addition to generally recognised safety qualifications.
